

Meet three cadets...

From left, Cadet Major Molly Hane, Air Force ROTC, Louisiana State University, pre-med: “We came here to get an idea about the Laboratory. I got to hear Major General Posner discuss the importance for a military presence here, and we are the future.”

Midshipmen Nick Aufderheide, U.S. Naval Academy, marine aviation: “I was surprised at how relaxed it is working here, but people still get their work done. Some of the stuff I’m seeing, like what I’m learning about using computers, will really impress people when I get back.”

Cadet Derek West, U.S. Military Academy, physics: “What impresses me most is seeing the process behind the science. I’m working with Ph.D. students, working on the nitty-gritty tasks. Seeing this will be helpful later on doing any kind of research.”

